

School Bus Safety

Being extra cautious around a school bus is a necessity since the cargo on board is priceless. Remember these tips while driving near those big yellow buses:

- Be prepared to stop when you see the bus driver turn on the flashing red lights and raise the stop sign; a passenger is getting off.
- Never pass a stopped school bus that is unloading students.
- Remember that buses stop at railroad tracks so keep your distance as you approach them.
- Obey speed limits in school zones and give school buses the right-of-way

© 2007 Zywave, Inc. All rights reserved.

School Bus Safety

Being extra cautious around a school bus is a necessity since the cargo on board is priceless. Remember these tips while driving near those big yellow buses:

- Be prepared to stop when you see the bus driver turn on the flashing red lights and raise the stop sign; a passenger is getting off.
- Never pass a stopped school bus that is unloading students.
- Remember that buses stop at railroad tracks so keep your distance as you approach them.
- Obey speed limits in school zones and give school buses the right-of-way

© 2007 Zywave, Inc. All rights reserved.

School Bus Safety

Being extra cautious around a school bus is a necessity since the cargo on board is priceless. Remember these tips while driving near those big yellow buses:

- Be prepared to stop when you see the bus driver turn on the flashing red lights and raise the stop sign; a passenger is getting off.
- Never pass a stopped school bus that is unloading students.
- Remember that buses stop at railroad tracks so keep your distance as you approach them.
- Obey speed limits in school zones and give school buses the right-of-way

© 2007 Zywave, Inc. All rights reserved.